Teaching Literacy in English to K-5 English Learners

THE CASE FOR CHANGE

- English learners lag behind their native English-speaking peers in reading achievement.
- Without strong reading skills, English learners will not be able to reach challenging standards.
- Many English learners are not being taught to read in English until they are able to speak in English.

LITERACK

English learners can learn to read in English at a rate comparable to native English speakers

> Staff Collaboration

> > Common Planning Time

DOING WHAT WORKS

U.S. Department of Education